PerkWorth

Voucher-first personal finance for Indian households

PerkWorth is India's voucher-first personal financial assistant — built for the millions of Indian households drowning in fragmented rewards.

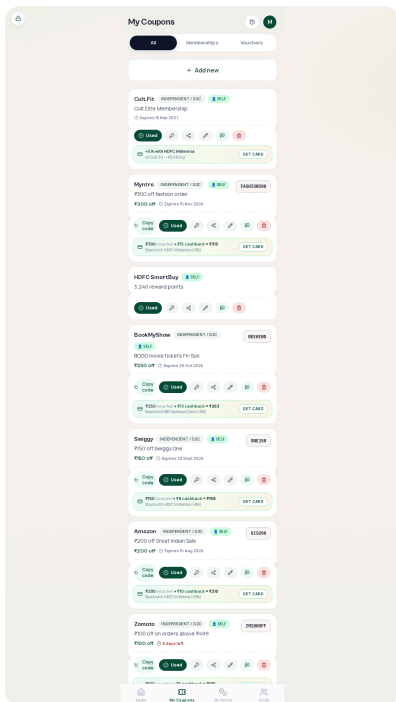

Your Zomato ₹100 code lives in a WhatsApp screenshot folder. Your Amazon points are locked in three apps. Your HDFC cashback is buried in a statement PDF. Your Cult.Fit membership expires next week and you have no idea. PerkWorth pulls all of it into one calm, elegant wallet — so you never forget, never miss, never overpay.

Beyond storage, the app calculates which credit card gives you the best cashback on each specific voucher, tracks membership ROI so you know if that ₹8,999 gym is paying off, and lets you selectively share individual vouchers with your spouse or parents — designed for how Indian joint families actually work.

WHY WE'RE DIFFERENT

Voucher-first, not card-first.

Every other rewards app is card-first — designed for banks, not you. We flip it. Start from a voucher you have, and only recommend a card when it beats your current option.
